Forklift "Train-The-Trainer"

We all know how difficult if can be to meet OSHA's training standards. Let us help simplify the process by training your instructors for you. We'll not only provide them with the knowledge to effectively teach forklift safety, but we'll also provide them with the skills necessary to effectively communicate these requirements to your employees. Topics include: pre-start safety inspections; design considerations; picking up the load; moving the truck; and setting down the load.

Your trainers will gain the tools necessary to meet the formal training requirements, the practical training requirements, and the evaluations. Forms and checklists are provided to properly document your in-house training.
